Brethren and friends, these are dedicated Advisors who believe wholeheartedly in the youth of our community. These Advisors know our youths to be good and reputable young men who, as responsible, upright citizens, will preserve our nation's rich heritage and continue the course of human concern and God-centered living that have made this nation great. These Advisors will give much time and effort in their dedicated service to this Chapter. They live lives worthy of DeMolay ideals and are vibrant examples of loyal and effective service.

Each of you has a particular duty and a special activity to which you have been assigned. I charge you to be faithful and diligent in the discharge of that duty so that this Chapter may succeed in serving God, country, and mankind, and so that its members may see in you an example worthy of emulation.
